There was once a man who heard that money attracts money.

You know

This man went to a bank

Inside the bank the clerk was counting money.

The man took his own money

Casheir

And threw it on top of a pile of cash.

He then stood there motionless

Watching the money for a long time.

Finally, the clerk asked him.....

Sir, what are you doing?

I have heard that money attracts money, so I have thrown my money on the pile

Now I am waiting for the whole cash to come to me.

Yes it is a fact, that money attracts money.

Now my money has attracted your money.
