

The man who was going to prostitute

INSTRUCTIVE STORIES BY SRILA PRABHUPADA

Once there was a rich married man who was very fond of a prostitute.

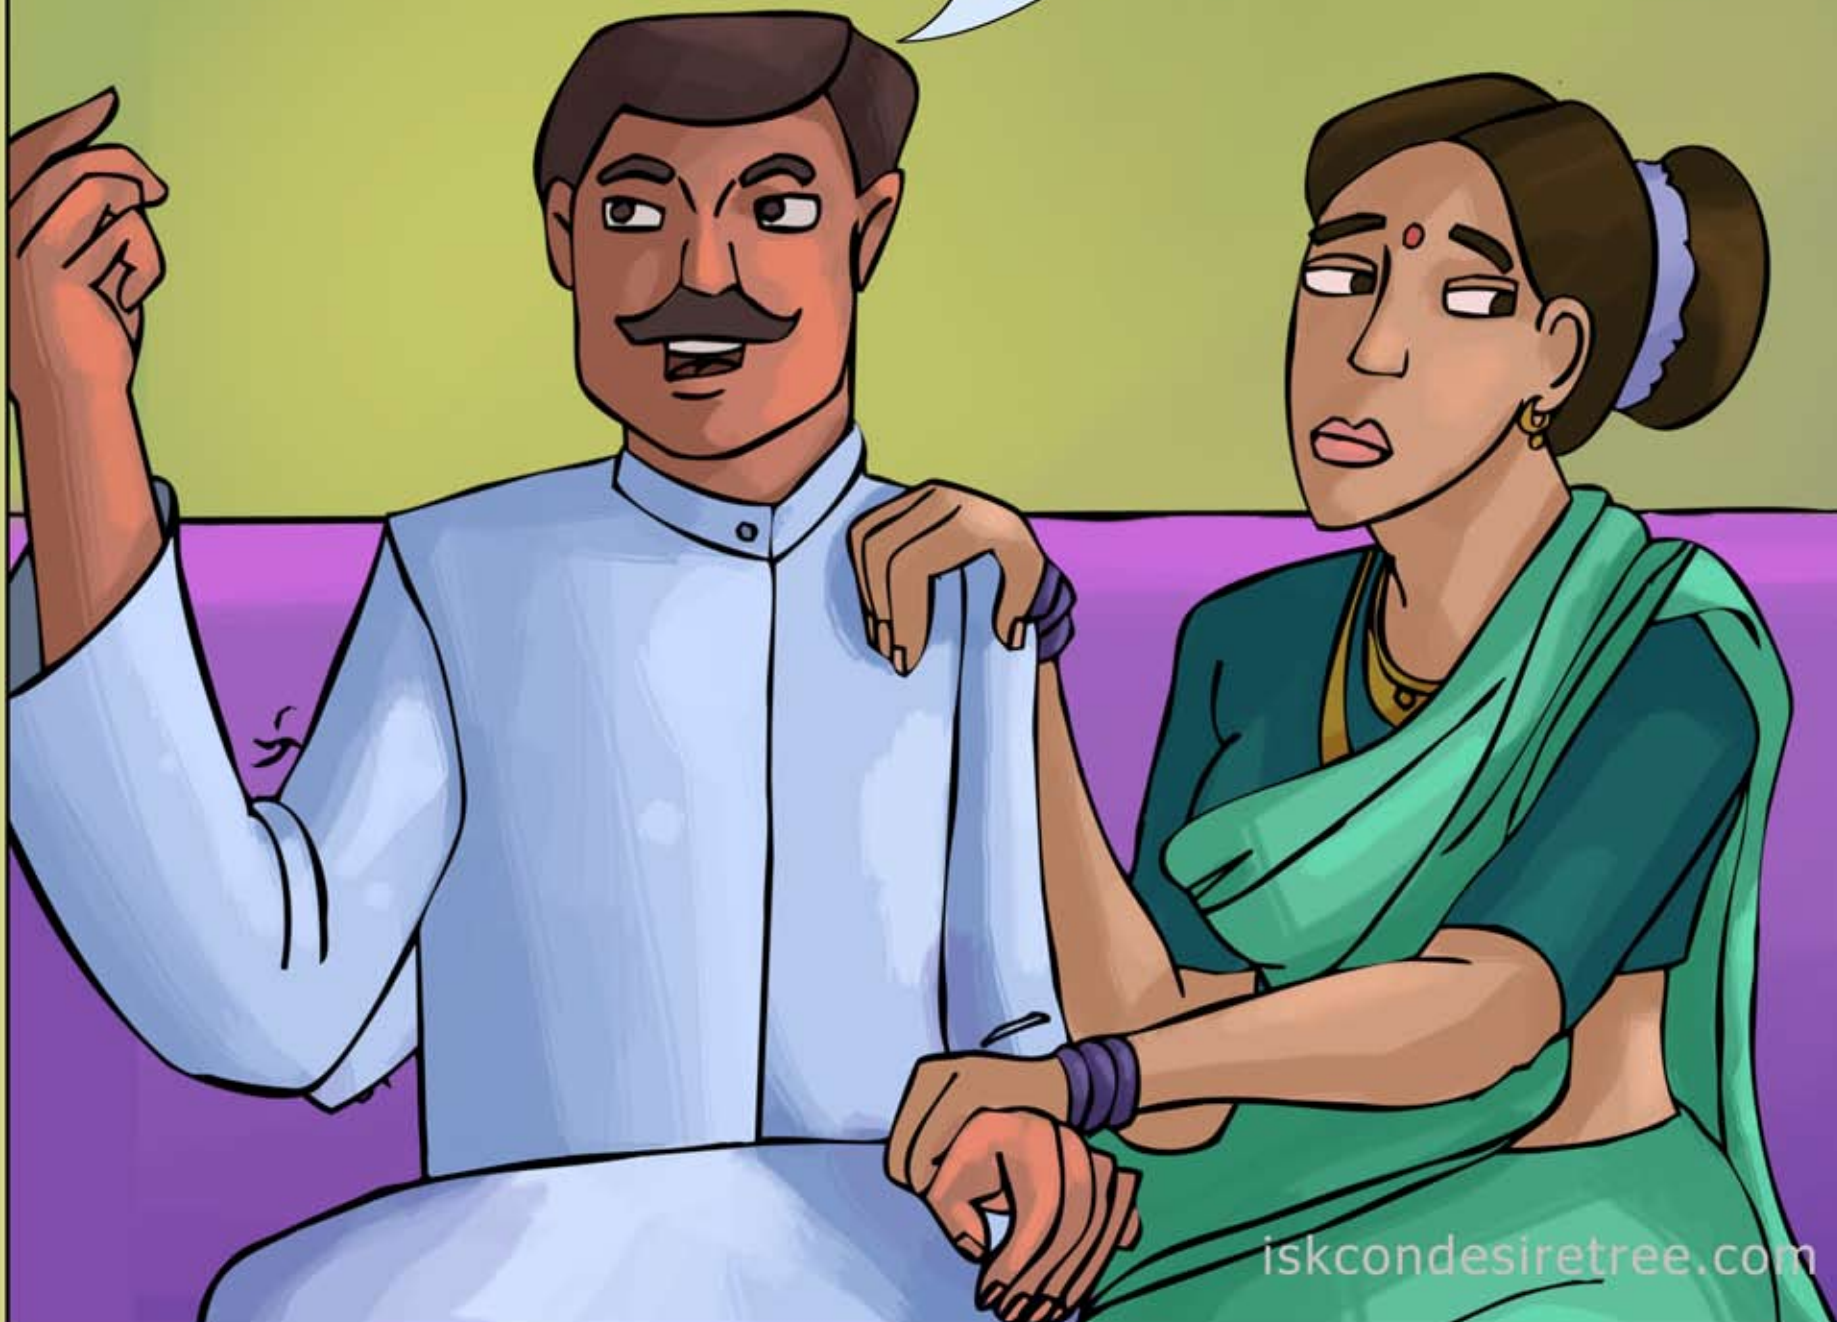

He had a faithful wife. After long silence, she decided to discuss with him about his attachment to the prostitute

What is there lacking in me that you are going to the prostitute?

I go there because
she dances and sings

So the wife learnt dancing and singing

In this way, one after another, she learnt dancing, singing, drinking

Still he was going

Then she asked him...

I have learnt
everything that the prostitute does.
Why are you still going?

There is still one thing

A woman with dark hair in a bun, wearing a green sari and a yellow necklace, looks surprised and questioning. She has her hand near her chest. A man with a mustache, wearing a light blue shirt, is seen from the back, looking towards her. A speech bubble above the woman contains the text "What is that?".

What is that?

You do not abuse
my father and mother.

These prostitutes, they abuse the father and mother.

A woman with brown hair tied back, wearing a green sari and a bindi, is shouting with her mouth wide open and her right hand held up in a 'stop' gesture. She has a determined and angry expression. To her right, a man in a blue shirt is shown in profile, looking towards her. A speech bubble originates from the woman, containing the text: "All right! Please Stop! I am no longer your wife. I cannot abuse your father and mother. That is not possible".

All right! Please Stop!
I am no longer your wife.
I cannot abuse your father and mother.
That is not possible

I have learnt these things for your satisfaction but I cannot learn abusive language.

MORAL :

The prostitute will not only abuse the paramour, but also his father, mother, family, culture, everything. So if you create prostitute in society, where is the hope of Brahminical culture.
