

The thief & The rich man

Once a thief and a rich man were traveling together.

This person seems to be quite wealthy. I will be benefited if I follow him.

Whenever the rich man would go to the bathroom....

Or when the train would stop
he would go to buy something...

The thief would look all through the room and in his bags, drawers, everywhere.

Oh! its not in this suitcase. Let me check his briefcase.

Every time he would try in some new place and searched all over

The train journey was just about to end, and as the train was slowing down, the thief confessed ...

Actually, I'm a thief, and I have been trying all this time to get your wealth, but you have outwitted me sir

The rich man went over to the thief's bed and began pulling out his wealth from underneath the

This is where I hid it

Because I knew that underneath your bed would be the last place that you would look.

MORAL :

So often we look for pleasure in many different places, travel to different countries looking for this pleasure, but we don't realize that pleasure is actually right there in the heart. That is Krsna

- Srila Prabhupada.