

ANTELOPE AND THE HUNTER

Once upon a time there were three friends living in jungle.

One day a hunter from nearby village came and set up a trap.

This trick always works.

The hunter's plan came true. The next day the antelope passed that way....

Such a nice day....

And suddenly he was trapped in that rope

Ahhhhhhhhh.....

The tortoise and the woodpecker heard his cry and rushed to him

You have strong teeth, free him while I keep the hunter away

Then they started their work according to the plan. The tortoise was very slow.

Meanwhile the hunter too had heard the cry of the antelope and he rushed to catch him. However, the woodpecker attacked him.

I better get back to my house.

Then the woodpecker flew back to his friends.

Hey friend tortoise, hurry up. The hunter will be here at any moment.

I am trying my best

Finally the tortoise did his job and the antelope became free.

Since the tortoise was too slow, he was captured by the hunter.

Oh! You freed my antelope? You will fill his place and now you are my food.

Soon the antelope made a plan to save the tortoise. He ran in front of the hunter and the hunter also followed him. He dropped his sack and ran after the antelope.

When he hunter entered the cave for searching the antelope, the antelope came out from that cave through another way.

Then the antelope rushed back to the spot where the tortoise had been abandoned.

Don't worry
my friend, I will soon get you out of the bag.

What happened to that hunter?

He is running in circles in our old cave.
