Instructive Stories from teachings of
Pancha-Tantra

In a beautiful river, there lived three fishes who were good friends. The first one was intelligent, second one believed only in fate and third one was smart.

Wow ! there are so many nice and healthy fishes here in this river. Tomorrow I shall come and catch them.

These fishermen will catch us tomorrow!

Listening to this, the intelligent fish quickly went to her friends & warned them.

Listen friends, let us go to near by lake through the canal, only then we can save ourselves. Otherwise tomorrow we will be caught in the fisherman's net .

Oh! Come on, what is the hurry in leaving from this river. Tomorrow when the fisherman will come, we will see what to do. We will find some way out.

Both of you keep quite. Nothing is in our hands. What is destined will happen. I am born and brought up in this river so I am not going to leave this place.

I am very worried and I am going to the lake through the canal.

The intelligent fish swims through the canal towards another lake.

The next day, the fishermen came on same spot

They threw their net into the river.

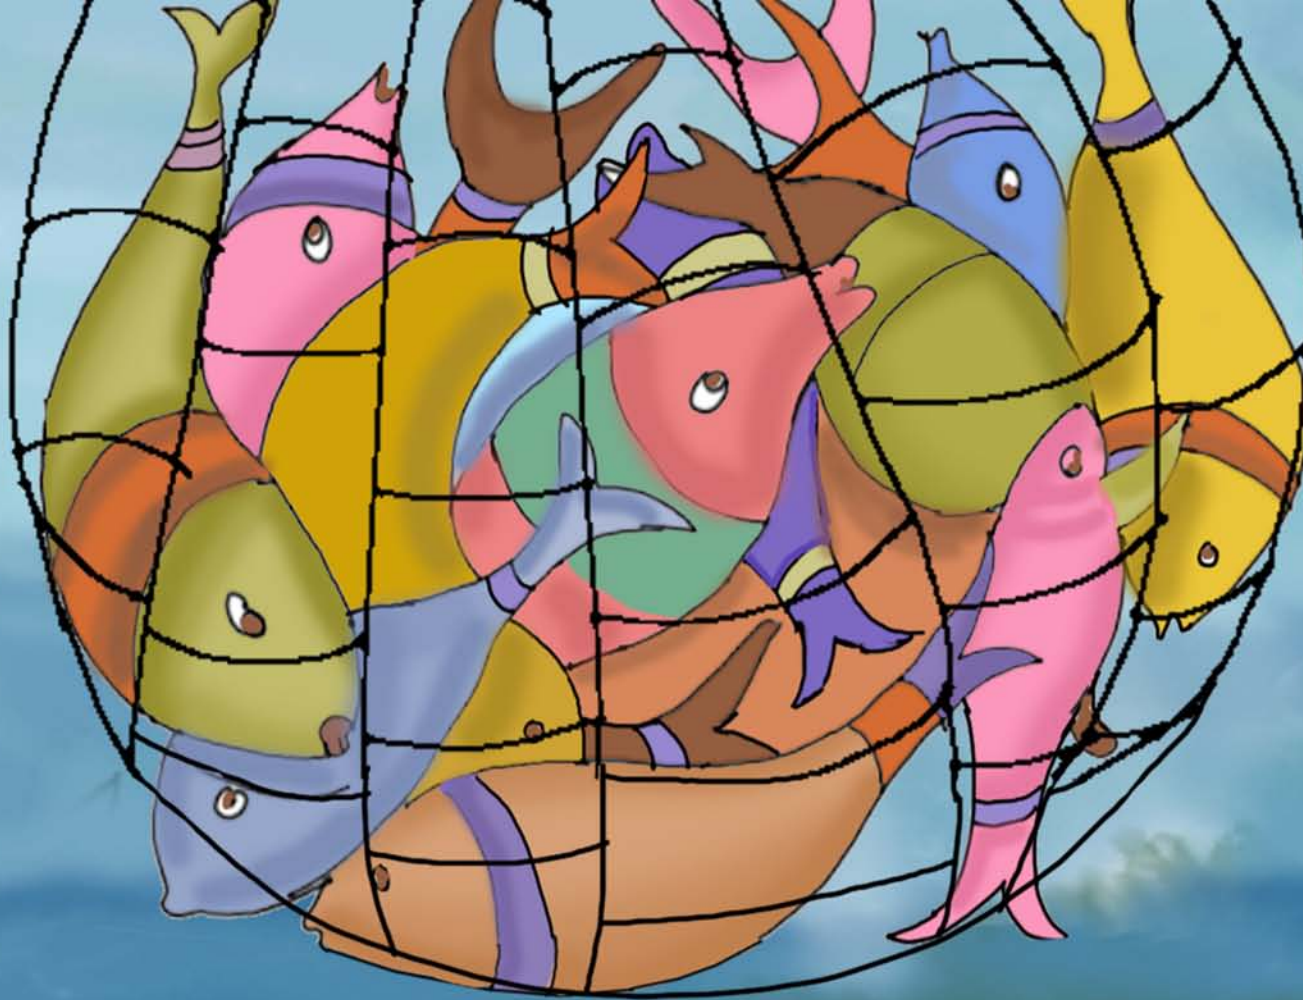

Many fishes were caught in the net.

The fisherman took the net out filled with many fishes.

The fish who believed in fate, lost all hopes of survival.

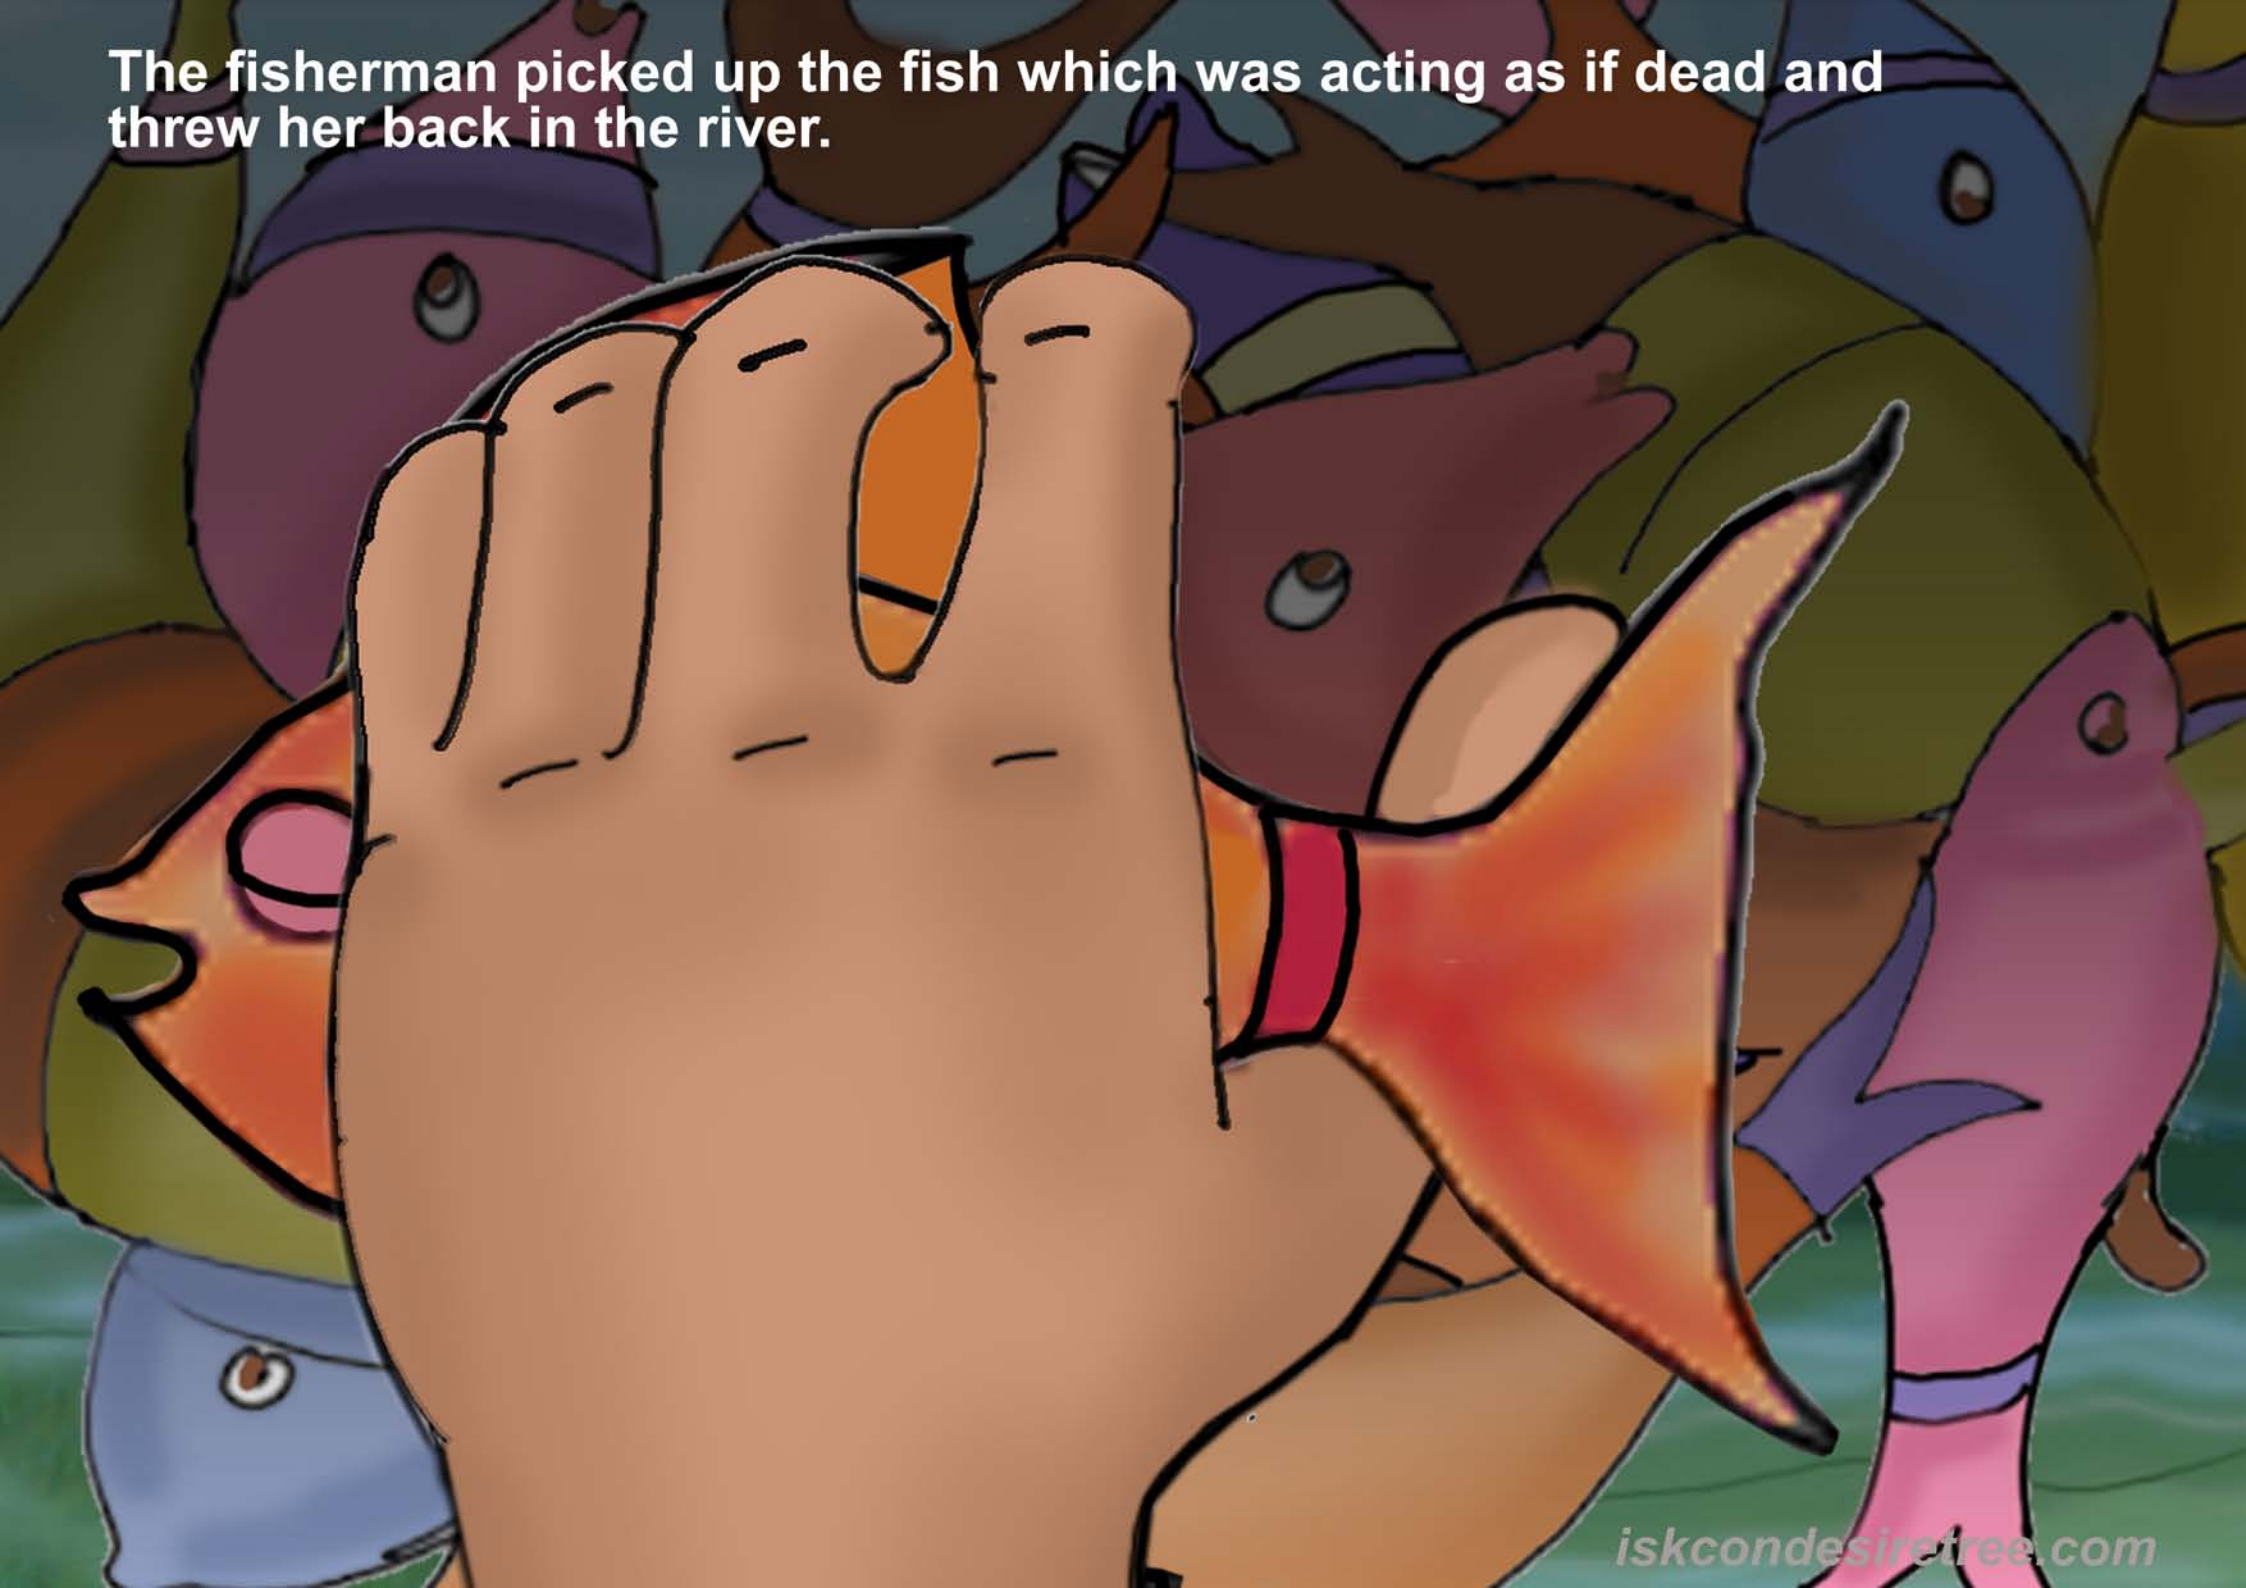

The smart fish controlled her breadth as if dead.
The fisherman thought that it's already dead
so who will take such a fish.

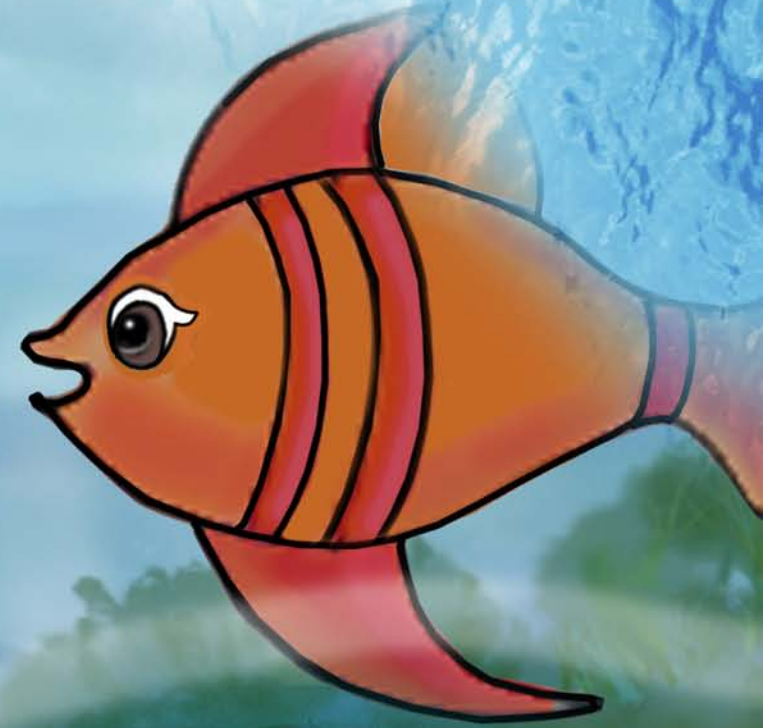

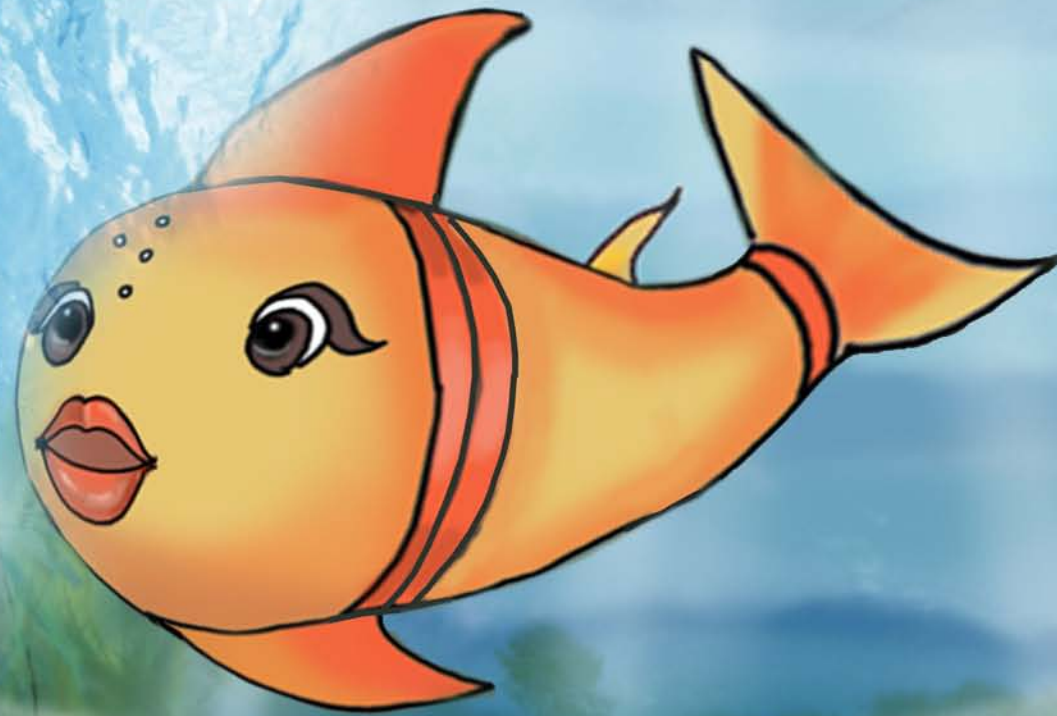

The fisherman picked up the fish which was acting as if dead and threw her back in the river.

In this way the intelligent fish and smart fish, saved their lives.

MORAL :

Let any problem come your way, use your brain and you will find the way.
