

SENSITIVITY

Bharat prabhu has his counselee meeting today and since he came early.. he decided to chant some rounds..

Just as Bharat prabhu was trying to chant attentively ...

At that time Mukund prabhu came with his Mridanga...

Hare Krsna Hare Krsnaaaaa....

Bhoom

Hare Krsna Prabhu...

Mukund prabhu did not responded because he was engrossed in playing mridanga...

Hari bol Prabhu
what are you doing?

Can't you see I am playing Mridanga...

That is alright
but don't play
Mridanga here...

A man with dark, wavy hair, wearing a pink and white striped polo shirt, is seated and gesturing with his right hand as if speaking. He is looking towards the right side of the frame. A yellow speech bubble with a black border is positioned to his right, containing the text "Why?". The background shows a wooden chair with a floral patterned fabric draped over it, and a wall with a decorative border near the floor.

Why ?

Can't you see I am chanting here...

but what is wrong if I play mridanga here...

Prabhu try to understand... I came here first and you know this is not the place the for practicing Mridanga

Ok prabhu I am sorry I will go some where else and chant...

Prabhu please don't go I did not meant to hurt you

A sensitive, reasonable person can acquire real knowledge and happiness simply by carefully observing the world around him. By observing the happiness and distress of other living entities, one can understand what is beneficial and what is destructive. Thus by one's sensitive and rational observation of this material world, one should come to appreciate the value of spiritual life in the association of the devotees.
